DID YOU KNOW...

Theo Epstein became the youngest GM in the history of MLB when the Red Sox hired him at the age of 28. In 2004 he engineered the first World Series championship by the Red Sox in 86 years. A 1995 graduate of Yale University, Epstein, while working 70-hour work-weeks for the Padres, studied full-time at the University of San Diego School of Law, where he earned a Juris Doctor degree and passed the California bar exam in 1999. Partly because Epstein grew up just a short distance from Fenway Park, and partly because he constructed the team that brought Boston a World Series championship for the first time in 86 years, Epstein remains wildly popular among members of Red Sox Nation. - Wikipedia
